NORTHFIELD SCHOOLS FOUNDED BY DWIGHT L. MOODY

Mount Hermon school for 500 boys and Northfield seminary for 500 girls, world-famous secondary schools, located at East Northfield, have entered new period of development this second half century, with newly-appointed officials. Photo show Mira B. Wilson, principal of Northfield seminary; Elliott Speer, newly-elected headmaster of Mount Hermon school; Albert E. Roberts, executive secretary recently appointed; and Wilfred W. Fry of Philadelphia, new president of the board of trustees for the Northfield schools.

Drawings show: Upper left — Mount Hermon chapel; lower right — Kenarden hall, administration building for both schools; lower left and upper right — glimpses suggestive of Round Top, the resting place of the founder and his wife, where thousands of missionaries and others have dedicated their lives in Christian service, and vista of Conn. river and hills beyond, familiar scenes to Northfield visitors.

EDITORIAL

In an effort to help the young people realize the importance of attention to the tremendous waste by fires in this country, about $500,000,000 a year, one of the largest Fire Insurance Companies is offering a gold medal to the High School student who presents the best essay on "How the Principles of Fire Prevention Have Been Applied in My Own Home." An advertisement in this issue of the Herald tells the story. In addition to the medal there will be a prize. Northfield's students should participate in this educational endeavor.

A good percentage of Legion men, as well as the majority of the American public are disappointed at the attitude shown in the Legion national convention when by a 10 to 1 vote the resolution "urging" and "endorsing" the immediate cash payment of the bonus, was adopted, even after President Hoover's sturdy appeal to defeat it. Speaking editorially, the Springfield Republican said in part:—"The immediate payment of the cash bonus is contrary to sound public policy at this time and in the near future. It is morally wrong, too. For the payment of the bonus would not be confined to those veterans who are unemployed and destitute; hundreds of thousands of the beneficiaries would be men in no need of financial relief from the government. To burden American taxpayers at this time for sums not yet due persons who can still pay their federal income taxes or keep two motor cars for their families or send their children to boarding schools might be generous to men who had been real heroes, but it would not be treating millions of less fortunate people of the country with comparative decency. The more fundamental question is whether money benefits should be paid for war service which did not result in personal disabilities. At this time $450,000,000 a year is being paid from the United States treasury for benefits to veterans who suffered no disabilities whatever on account of military service. In five years a sum equal to the whole bonus when it becomes due in 1945 will be paid because of the embodiment of this extravagant concession in legislation."

"Roosevelt for Hoover" sounds like a slogan but it's true. Out in Roosevelt, Long Island is a small town named in honor of that great Republican and President Theodore Roosevelt and the Republicans of that town have formed an organization to support President Herbert Hoover for re-election. Their slogan is "Roosevelt for Hoover" and what a good one it is. It sounds well, listens well and is a prediction that as goes Roosevelt so will go the country. "Roosevelt for Hoover," Northfield for Hoover Everybody, everywhere for Hoover.

First Dist. Committees
To Hold A Session

Congressman Allen T. Treadway has announced that the usual biennial Republican Get-Together Party of members of the city and town Republican Committees of the First Congressional District, including the Franklin, Hampshire and Worcester County towns which have been added to the First District, will be held at Heaton Hall, Stockbridge, on Tuesday, October 11, 1932.

Luncheon will be at twelve o'clock, followed at 1:30 p. m. by speaking by prominent National and State speakers.

The members of the Northfield Town Committee are cordially invited to attend.

Probate Court

Judge Francis Nims Thompson at last week's session of probate court granted three divorces, all decree nisi.

Freida M. Nelson of Bernardston was granted her divorce petition from Robert M. Nelson of the same town and the custody of the minor child of the parties was given to the libellant, who charged adultery.

Alice Moore Flanders of Northfield obtained a nisi decree on her petition from Roy Elmo Flanders of Northfield. She charged cruel and abusive treatment and was allowed to resume her maiden name after the decree becomes absolute.

Other business transacted included the following:

Wills allowed of — Sarah G. Richardson late of Northfield.

Miscellaneous — Albert S. Gordon, formerly of Northfield, ordered to render account on or before Oct. 15, 1932, his guardian of Alberta Rosa, an insane person of Northfield.

Kind Words

To The Editor:
You have developed a paper which is a credit to Northfield. We eagerly look for it and appreciate it.

Poet's CornerWERE I

Were I an artist with a magic touch,
I'd paint the sky in colors such as only the mellow Autumn can show,
In its setting suns' rose golden glow.

Were I a singer of notes so sweet,
That with the thrush I could compete,
I'd trill and sing, in a thicket green
Where trodden paths are not to be seen.

Were I a poet with a golden pen,
I'd dream on a hill-top, and when the new crescent moon rules the blue sky,
My dreams would live—never to die.

Artist—singer—poet, No, not I,
Just one of the throng passing by,
Thanking God, that I can hear and see
The wonders, that He created for me.

Helen Bistrek.

Northfield.AT EVEN-TIDE

It's set of sun:
The day is done
And one by one the shadows creep.
The blossoms fold,
The dew is cold
And now I lay me down to sleep."

In purple skies
The stars arise,
The little clouds appear like sheep;
Whom shepherds white
Attend by night—
"I pray Thee Lord, My soul to keep."

The blossoms fall,
The night winds call,
I hear the listening aspens quake;
A crystal cup
The moon comes up—
"If I should die before I wake."

In silence gray
The branches sway
As winds with un-seen fingers shake.
The cricket flutes
The brown owl hoots—
"I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to take."

All's calm about;
In dark and doubt
The tide goes out, and in its wake
Shapes dread and dim
In silence swim.—
"I ask it Lord, For Jesus' sake!"

MOUNTAINS

Far back in the quiet country,
At the end of a wooded lane,
Is an ancient family grave yard,
Weathered by sun and rain,

The dark slate stones are crumbling,
Some have fallen down,
Wild black berry vines entangle them,

Faint lettering still is found.

In the center of this lonely spot,
There stands a simple stone,
In memory of a pioneer
Who built the first rude home.

He changed the fearful wilderness,
To acres smooth and fair.

He raised a sturdy race of men.
His neighbors' tasks he shared.

One son left with restless heart,
And went to the western coast,
Opening an easier passageway
For the feet of the coming hosts.

The second wrote historic tales,
For future men to read,
The third son gave his life to free
His land from a rash king's greed.

A prosperous city is near the spot,
Its founder is known to few.
The many people who walk its streets,
Care little of how it grew.

A building of marble fine to behold,
Stands in the public square,
The gilded cornices flash in the sun,
Its treasures are old and rare.

In front of the temple a statue of bronze
Reminds all who pass of the man,
Of the one who gave of his countless wealth,
That his monument might stand.

His tenements house the very poor.
His mills pay a meager wage.
His wife now lives in a foreign land,
The victim of his rage.

Two men two lives, two monuments
One gave a marble hall.
The other, unknown, desired no fame,
But gave himself to all.

Doris Hildreth Wheeler.

"THIS PLACE FOR SALE"

"This Place for Sale" — What tragedy lies in those few words!

The desolation, lack of care,
The house so still the barns so bare!

In former years like bees in hives
A happy family lived their lives
In this old place.

The waving grain on yonder lea,

Green pastures far as eye could see

With well-fed cattle grazing o'er

Bespoke of larders full in store

Of everything that needful was

To keep the grim wolf from its door.

"This Place for Sale" — Where can they be,

The folks we always liked to see

In this old place?

E. W. B.

The young ones wise in modern ways,
Have sought "Dame Fortune" in the towns
That grow like magic year by year
'Cause folks like these from far and near.

Leave the old place

But sadness surely is in store

For those grown old before the leave a place like this

To find a roof 'neath which to end

The remaining years they have to spend

While life goes on.

Now better far 'twould be to keep

Some savings in a little heap,

The old place a part may be

For all those ships returned from sea

Whereon the young folks once set sail

To see the world

And when a shattered mast or leak,

A rift in sail or groaning creak

Betokens speed to nearest land

The dear old place may be the haven

For all those cargoes once so laden

With fondest hopes of gain and fame.

Then such a place would be a home

With all the meaning there is fraught

In that word, home.

What e'er the tide, what strength the gale

There's one old place that's not for sale!

Cecile King.

ObituaryVeteran Railroad Man Passes In Death

Joseph G. Stoddard, 80, veteran Boston & Maine railroad man who retired only last April after 55 years' service, died Monday at the Franklin County Public Hospital following a stroke.

For nearly 30 years he was station master in Greenfield, and was well known to many in Northfield especially to members of the Masonic fraternity. He often visited at the sessions of Harmony Lodge. Mr. Stoddard was born in Carlisle, England May 26, 1852. And came to this country when only four years old.

Mr. Stoddard was widely known in Masonic circles. He was a past master of Orange lodge and a member of Republican lodge of Greenfield. He was an honorary member of Jerusalem lodge of Northampton and past district deputy grand master of the old 13th, now the 14th district.

He was a member and deacon of the Second Congregational church. He married in 1876 at Wolfboro, N. H., Miss Eliza D. Nowell.

He is survived by two sons, Atty. Charles N. Stoddard, president of the Greenfield Tap and Die Corp., and Laurence J. Stoddard of Hudson, Ohio; a sister, Mrs. Jennie Goodwin of Portsmith, N. H. and two grandsons, Charles N. Stoddard, Jr., and Whitney S. Stoddard.

The funeral was held on Wednesday.

MRS. MARGARET CALLAGHAN

Mrs. Margaret Callaghan, 88 years of age, widow of the late James Callaghan died at her home on Warwick avenue early Thursday morning, September 29th, after a long and lingering illness. She was one of Northfield's oldest residents and came here from Ireland where she was born, when only four years old. At 21 years of age she was married to Mr. James Callaghan and they made their home here since. Mr. Callaghan died in 1884.

Mrs. Callaghan was known to her family and friends as cheerful disposition, kindly character who bore her suffering with patience and fortitude. She leaves one son John Callaghan of Northfield, and three surviving daughters, Mrs. T. A. Dollar and Miss Katherine of Northfield and Miss Mary of Boston. She also leaves two brothers, Patrick and William of Peabody, Mass., and one sister, Mrs. Mary Judd of Charlestown, N. H., together with seven grandchildren.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning with mass at nine o'clock at St. Patrick's church Rev. P. E. Carey officiating and burial will be in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery.

Congregationalists At Northfield Hotel

Over one hundred delegates from the Congregational churches of Massachusetts gathered at the Northfield hotel on Wednesday for a two-day session of the Massachusetts Congregational state conference of the leadership institute. The conference is under the joint auspices of the state committee on missions and apportionments, the religious education commission and the departments of women's activities. The conference was planned and directed by Asa M. Parker, state secretary for promotion. The delegates arrived in time for dinner at noon and the conference was opened at two o'clock by the chaplain, Rev. Clarence Reidenbach of the Second Congregational church of Holyoke. The discussions are directed by Miss Ruth Seabury of Boston, Rev. John R. Scott of New York and Harry T. Stock, secretary of Student and Young People's work in Massachusetts. The Conference lasted through Thursday. Many of the guests enjoyed the Chateau and were quartered there.

Westwood Speaks At Unitarian Mission Large Audiences

Dr. Horace Westwood of Boston, conducting the preaching mission in the Unitarian church each evening of this week has steadily grown more gripping in his spiritual interpretation of some of the big problems of life.

In speaking of "Jesus the Jew" he said:

"Whatever may be the future of organized Christianity, the future belongs to the Galilean. In a very real sense Jesus shall reign where ever the sun doth its successive journeys run," for the unfolding centuries will justify his teaching. Indeed, this must be so, for the simple reason that Jesus discerned those principles which are at once not only universal in their scope, but lie as the basis of all religion and constitute the foundation stones of any society that hopes to endure. The fact of the matter is, that Jesus proclaimed those spiritual laws by which alone individuals and nations can truly live. Therefore, even as the past has marched to the tune of His name, so will the future unfold in the light of His truth.

In treating the subject "The Battle over the Bible" the speaker said:

The Fundamentalist asserts that modern scholarship is destructive of the Bible's true value and worth. The contrary is true. Modern scholarship makes the intelligent use of the Bible possible for the first time, and in Archdeacon Wilberforce's words "becomes the pathway to spiritual discovery."

The Fundamentalist view of revelation is of something static and fixed unchangeable with no further development. The Word of God is bound". In contrast the Modernist believes in revelation as something dynamic, living, growing, progressive and universal. To him the Word of God is not bound.

On Wednesday evening he challenged those who believe in God to live as though there is a God, and stated that there are those who profess belief in God and deny His existence in the life they live.

Munn's Ferry The Last Boat Crossing

Of the many ferry crossings of the Connecticut River about Northfield in by gone days, the last one remaining in actual service today is Munn's Ferry.

Munn's Ferry is still operated and is available for crossing the river at the Northfield Upper Farms between the property of Charles Parker and the land of Lewis Munn in Gill.

The ferry is in operation at all times except when there is ice in the river. Fred Shantley has charge of the same. The ferry boat is capable of carrying a team or an automobile but is more often used by hikers and pedestrians who are walking about the district.

Mr. Shantley lives near the ferry on the Northfield side and is summoned by means of a horn in case he is on the opposite side of the river. In addition to the fares charged for crossing Mr. Shantley also receives an appropriation from the town to keep the boat in good condition.

Two other ferries have been discontinued within the memory of older inhabitants. The upper ferry, the landing of which can still be seen near the head of the Bennett Meadow bridge on the west side of the river was run for many years by Robert Stebbins and was discontinued when the Meadow bridge was opened. Haigis Is Elected
Director Council
Of New England

Election of John W. Haigis as a director of the Massachusetts division of the New England council was announced at council headquarters, Boston, Wednesday by Chairman Edgar C. Rust of the Massachusetts division. Mr. Haigis president of the Franklin County Trust company of Greenfield and formerly state treasurer, is one of the best known business men in Massachusetts, with a long record of public service and leadership.

In accepting election as a director of the council, Mr. Haigis called public attention to problems of agriculture and taxation as being questions of vital importance to Massachusetts business in which the council has been active.

Haigis, whose election took place at a recent meeting, assumes his duties as a Massachusetts director of the council immediately.

Gymnasium Classes
For The Younger Set

Through the generous co-operation of the authorities of Mount Hermon School and Northfield Seminary James Gymnasium at Hermon will be open to town boys every Monday evening beginning October 3, and Skinner Gymnasium of the Seminary will be open to town girls every Tuesday evening beginning October 4, from 7:30 to 9:30.

At a meeting in the Town Hall last Tuesday evening the plans and requirements were explained to a large group of boys and girls. The age limits are 10 to 18 or 20 years old.

The first term of 12 sessions will run from next week to the middle of December. Girls must bring a doctor's certificate, and provide themselves with gym suits and sneakers, bathing caps and shoes. Bathing suits and towels will be provided by the gym. Boys must wear sneakers, and should have white athletic shorts and sleeveless vests. Towels will be provided by the gym.

Instruction and supervision for the boys will include calisthenics, relay races, apparatus and mat work, running, wrestling, basketball, swimming and diving. The girls will receive instruction in tap and folk dancing in addition to the other exercises. Occasional short talks on training, hygiene, sportsmanship, and similar appropriate topics will also be on the program.

The instructors in both classes are members of the school staffs, namely, Henry Crucias and Howard Bishop at Mount Hermon, and Miss Field and Miss Hubner at the Seminary.

The overhead expenses of light and heat, pool supplies, and instruction are met in part by charging a small fee. Based on an average of 40 members in each class, the fee for boys for the term of 12 sessions will be $1.50, and for girls 75 cents, always payable in advance, otherwise by arrangement with the treasurers. Casuals will be charged 15 cents before being allowed on either gym floor or in the pool. No general solicitation for funds to meet the deficit will be made this year, but it is hoped that there are townspeople who will co-operate by contributing the amount of the fees of boys and girls who cannot raise the needed sums.

Mr. Tom Parker has kindly consented to act as transportation officer for Hermon gym again this year. Volunteer autos will provide free rides for the boys to Hermon and back. The transportation of girls will also be taken care of by volunteer co-operation.

The ladies committee for Skinner Gymnasium includes Mrs. Ross Spencer, chairman; Mrs. Wm. P. Statnoff, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Kehl and Miss Ethelyn Sheldon. The Hermon committee includes Lester A. Polhemus, treasurer; George McEwan and A. P. Pitt.

The active sympathy and co-operation of parents and interested friends are sought to make this gym work a success. In the absence of a town gym it is a grand thing for our young people to have one evening a week in training and recreation under the best of facilities and instruction. Last year the school authorities were greatly pleased. No complaints about conduct were registered on either campus, and no damage to property was reported. The instructors personally enjoy their contacts with the town boys and girls. Everything looks bright for a helpful and enjoyable time the coming season.

There are few regrets over the purchase of a Superior Article. We have been giving Satisfactory Service for years with our Precision Equipment. You will be pleased with the results if you let us fix up your motor. The Morgan Garage, Northfield, Mass. Telephone 178. Adv.

Does Family Wash
Gets Hand In Wringer

It's fine thing for "papa" to help "mama," especially on Monday which is the usual wash day for many families. And if "papa" has plenty of time why shouldn't he help "mama" do the family wash. In the olden days the wash tub and scrubbing board was used and you can imagine "papa" providing the rubbing power to the music of a few torn garments — but now-a-days this washing is the sing of the electric washer and "papa" needs only to roll up his sleeves of his Sunday suit and simply watch the operation and feed the wringer. Howbeit even this modern invention proved too much of an invention for a well-known "papa" on Parker Ave. in Northfield who recently attempted to prove to "mama" that he could do the family wash.

He was "master of ceremonies" and all went well in doing an efficient job until feeding the wringer was necessary. Then with masculine effort he assisted in forcing the rolls only to get his finger caught. The machine was stopped and an S. O. S. signal sounded while he sought to extricate his hand. He was in no position to help himself and a friend who was nearby was called in with a Stilson wrench to loosen the bolts and extricate his hand. We are not mentioning names — but the neighbors now wonder if "papa" will again help "mama" in doing the family wash.

Hermon Scholarship
Student Honor Group

The scholarship honor group for last term was read in chapel Tuesday by the headmaster, Elliott Speer. The best percentage was won by the class of 1933 with 11.76; second best, 1935 with 11.32. Thirteen of the 36 ranking students reside in Massachusetts, ten in Connecticut, and seven in New York state.

Highest honors were won by E. P. Hetzel of Harrisonville, Mo., and W. T. Woodland of Boston.

Honors were won by the following men: O. C. Hugo, Meriden, Conn.; E. A. Murdock, West Haven, Conn.; G. S. Trick, New Milford, Conn.; F. J. Altman, New York city; M. D. Ambrose, Bridgeport, Conn.; J. G. Antonowitz, New York city; Tom Kay, Fitchburg, Mass.; K. W. MacFayden, Worcester, Mass.; J. F. Oberer, Douglaston, New York; R. C. Rotherha, Revere, Mass.; F. H. Smith, Belmont, Mass.

C. A. Carmean, Mount Hermon; B. A. Chase, Ashburnham, Mass.; A. S. Hodgkins, Worcester; E. R. Howard, Rockville, Conn.; W. J. MacQuillan, Hartford, Conn.; H. C. McWilliams, Dolgeville, N. Y.; M. H. Neilson, Jamaica, N. Y.; Carroll Rikert, Mount Hermon; R. M. Adams, Worcester; E. C. Barrett, West Barrington, R. I.; C. V. Carnahan, Nantucket Mass.; W. F. Eastman Jr., No. Haverhill, Mass.; R. R. Wetherfield, Conn.; A. H. Gladding, Norwalk, Conn.; H. F. Howe, Roxbury, Vt.; M. J. Hunt, Jamaica, N. Y.; R. E. Lessing, Adrian, Mich.; F. Masturzo, New York city; J. W. Nelson, Ansonia, Conn.; J. P. Webber, East Northfield; J. H. Harris Jr., Revere, Mass.; H. W. Lee, North Falmouth, Mass.; and R. T. Washburn, West Haven, Conn.

The Honor Roll
Of Northfield Seminary

The scholarship honor roll of the past term at the Northfield Seminary, announced Wednesday includes the 20 ranking students of the entire student body of 525. Of special significance in the list is Helen Goodwin of Hollis, N. H., a blind girl, who has been an honor student all the four terms she has been at school. New Hampshire claims 5 of this distinctive number as residents.

The complete list follows: Elizabeth Atanasoff, Burlington, Vt.; Frances Atwood, East Middlebury, Vt.; Ellen Dix, Pine Grove, Pa.; Dorcas Dixon, North Rochester, N. H.; Adeline Falato, West New York, N. J.; Maria Fernandez, Rochester, Mass.; Helen Goodwin, Hollis, N. H.; Barbara Kohn, Andover, Mass.; Bertha Mack, New York City; Constance MacNaughton, Nashua, N. H.; Verna Mayberry, Mount Hermon; Marion Packard, San Francisco, Calif.; Margaret Pratt, Antrim, N. H.; Virginia Slati, Meriden, Conn.; Hazel Sundt, Waterford, Conn.; Jane Tyrell, South Berwick, Maine; Josephine Van Vladrichen, Westhampton, L. I., N. Y.; Jane Whitbread, Larchmont, N. Y.; and Ruth Wood, Athol, Mass.

The program at the Trinitarian Church for the coming month is one of unusual interest, every Sunday for the month of October will be part of a larger program of preparation, for the great Mission in November, under the leadership of Rev. Milton Rees of Rochester, N. Y. A large chorus, special solo work and other musical features will form part of the program.

Sunday next in addition to the services at the North church there will be preaching at number nine school house beginning at three o'clock. At six-thirty-five there will be preaching at the Farms, the usual program will carry through the evening. At the home church next Wednesday, October fifth a great afternoon and evening conference will be held. Don't miss hearing Miss Christabel Pankhurst, formerly noted suffrage leader of England, who will be the leading speaker of the day.

Spiritual Eclipse

Rev. W. Stanley Carne
East Northfield, Mass.

Using the recent total eclipse of the sun as an illustration, Rev. W. Stanley Carne spoke during the General Conference on "Spiritual Eclipse" at the Round Top hour on Sunday, July 31 last. His address which was reported by Mrs. Sidney Given for the Record of Christian Work and is printed in the September issue of this Northfield magazine, was as follows:

In just a month we anticipate the opportunity of witnessing the total eclipse of the sun. Numbers of our friends from New England and points beyond will be coming to that strip across Canada, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine in which they may witness that marvelous spectacle. We are told that astronomers are coming from all points of this continent and from beyond the seas in order that they may investigate and make new findings on that occasion.

I have failed to find a person who doubts for one moment the genuineness and authenticity of the announcement that on the 31st of August at 3:30 o'clock, the total eclipse will be witnessed. In an age like this, with conditions in religion and faith as they are, I cannot but wonder at the silence of many question or criticism, any wonder or doubt, in view of this forthcoming event to which so many people in the world are looking with such great interest.

Men naturally think of the sun as being a kind of parent to all those worlds created by God in space. We think of their dependence upon the sun for light and heat, for the energy which holds them in place and space and enables them to carry on with such uniformity in the great immeasurable spaces beyond.

We outline the sun in our mind, we make a fairly good diagram, we think of its shape, we have some idea of its bulk and size, but how little we realize that for untold thousands of miles beyond there are vast oceans of incandescent gases being shot through space, and this ever a constant process! Is it a small thing to us that God has so wonderfully created and so marvelously sustained?

For instance, the journey of this earth, a million and a half miles a day, we are told. Of course it is too big for thought or even for imagination, but we are captivated with the idea that every year this marvelous planet travels in its circuit from five to six hundred millions of miles; and what seems to me the greatest thing of all is this, that it draws in at the end of its journey on time,—to the minutest fraction of a second on time, in a vast journey like that!

Is it any wonder, then, that the psalmist said: "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth his handiwork?"

There is another kind of eclipse about which we have been thinking more seriously of late, the eclipse of the Son of God. There are adverse forces at work in our national life, and indeed throughout the whole world. We sometimes speak of them as (for instance) materialism, or rationalism, or atheism. It seems to me that each of these means more than just one thing. They each seem to indicate many things that are allied as forces of darkness to overwhelm and to destroy the rightful place of him who is Lord and Master of us all. The thing in which we as believers in this great gospel and followers of Jesus Christ are particularly interested is that we may by our devotion and loyalty bring back the clear, unveiled vision of Christ in all his glory.

America in her history has again and again experienced religious sagging. For instance, when we came into being as a nation there were hard, desert-like days when religion and faith seemed to have been eclipsed. Again, just before the Civil War and following that awful calamity another eclipse in religion, but the nation emerged again into light and faith and devotion.

The question I would ask is this: How did it all happen? If not once or twice, but many times this nation has emerged from the desert places to fruition and foliage, to beauty and faith again, how may we now expect a return of such life of love and devotion? History proves that it has always come about as a revival in religion. Nations that have not experienced revivals of faith are nations that have never come to prominence. Nations that have found the greatest pre-eminence in history are those that have witnessed the mightiest revivals. And if America or any other nation ever contemplates greatness they may make up their minds to the challenge that there is but one way—the way of the spirit, the way of faith, the way of reconsecration.

When King Hezekiah came to the throne of Judah he found things in a national way much in discard, and religion in ill repute. The altars of God had been thrown down, and people on every hand were complaining of their wilderness estate. This wise man at the age of 25 immediately began to cleanse the Temple, to tear down the idols, and again to build the altar of the living God, with a result that there came back to Judah, and through his kind offices to Israel too, a living faith in God. Then came success to the nation, and the elevation of life in every way.

If the sun is hidden and the world is dark we may expect to find birds in their nests and the flowers even covering their faces, but if we can cleanse away the sins that shadow our faith, our loyalty, and our Christ, we may again find in our states, our nation and in the world, success, progress, happiness and peace. For only as we are willing to lay aside the weights and to pay the price which religion demands may we ever expect to bring to life and light those high values without which day is turned into night, and joy into mourning.

During this conference there comes to us an unusual challenge. All of us recognize that there is but one way back to the strong way of our faith. It is the pathway of prayer. May God grant to us during these days that aided by His Spirit we may find ourselves at the foot of the cross, and again hear clearly the challenge of the Christ, for as of old the world is still anxious to find the way of life. The Greeks were but prophets for the nations who came saying:

"We would see Jesus!"

Let us, as did Philip and Andrew, bring their request to our Lord and Master, that we may drive away the shadows from life and usher in again the light of eternal day!

Professional Women

Start Seasons Work

The Franklin County Business and Professional Women's Club, at their first meeting of the season held last week at the Weldon Hotel heard two of its own members in interesting talks. Mrs. Arthur D. Potter spoke on the Olympics and her western trip this summer and Rev. Margaret B. Barnard gave details of the Republican convention which she attended as an alternate.

Mrs. Ellen Linblad, president, was the presiding officer. Twenty-two members and six guests attended the meeting, which was preceded by dinner.

The dinner meetings of the club will in the future be held on the third Tuesday of the month instead of the first.

Several Northfield women are members of this organization and are enjoying its membership. The club gives promise of taking front rank in its influence of women's organizations in the County.

August Weather

The weather during the month of August was dry, clear, and warm. The precipitation during the month was only 2.67 inches, while the normal for the month is 4.24 inches. The total precipitation for the present calendar year since January 1 is 23.73 inches. The normal precipitation for this period is 29.46 inches. The mean temperature for the month was 70.5 degrees, while the normal mean temperature is 68.4 degrees. The highest temperature was 91 degrees on the 25th and 26th. The normal maximum temperature for August is 91.3 degrees. The lowest temperature was 46 degrees on the 1st, the normal minimum temperature for August being 42.9 degrees. There were 286 hours of bright sunshine during the month compared with a normal of 336 hours. There were 15 days recorded as clear, 12 as fair and 4 as cloudy. The normal distribution of clear, fair and cloudy days in August is 9, 13 and 9 respectively. The total wind movement for the month was 3301 miles compared with a normal of 3099 miles. The maximum velocity was 22 miles per hour on the 10th. The prevailing direction was south southwest. The mean relative humidity was 67 per cent. There was thunder and lightning on the 7th and 27th. No sunshine was recorded on the 31st, the day of the eclipse, but the clouds broke away for a short period during the phenomenon.

Indian Memorial
Unveiling And Program

Saturday Oct. 1st

The program for the unveiling of the Mohawk Indian memorial at Mohawk park on Mohawk trail, Charlemont has been completed and will be held on Saturday October 1st.

Governor Joseph B. Ely will be the speaker of the day scheduled at 2:30 p.m. and John W. Haigis, past sachem of Red Men, will introduce him.

The unveiling program will open with a series of smoke signals by Boy Scouts at 1:15 p.m. The signals will duplicate the old ritual of calling the tribes and councils to assemble. At 1:30 the Boy Scouts will conduct a flag raising ceremony. A concert by the Greenfield high school band will follow.

Mrs. E. D. Billings of Bernardston Road, well known soprano, will sing a group of Indian songs, prior to the opening of the unveiling ceremony at 2:10 o'clock. Fred C. Scott, chairman of the status committee will present the completed statue and site to President Anthony Kendrew of the Old Deerfield conference. At 3 o'clock, following the governor's address, the Misses Marjorie Kendrew and Beverly Bruce, will unveil the statue.

Immediately following the unveiling, Joseph P. Pollia of New York City, the sculptor of the figure, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil H. Kennedy, donors of the memorial site, will be introduced. The selection "America" will later be played by the high school band and at 4 o'clock there will be Indian dancing by Boy Scout troop, No. 205 of Easthampton. They will do the corn dance, Great Plains war dance, medicine pipe dance, and sun dance. Sky rockets and night illumination of the statue will complete the program.

The memorial is a statue of bronze upon a nine ton boulder facing the east. It is being erected by Red Men's tribes and councils of Degree of Pocahontas at a cost of $4,000.

October Number Of

R. C. W. Is Out

Another splendid issue of the Record of Christian Work is off the press for October and now in the mails to subscribers. The front page bears a splendid group picture of the leaders and speakers of the General Conference held last August. The likenesses are very good and are of Messrs. W. R. Moody, Glanville Davies, Paul D. Moody, Howard M. Morgan, Alexander C. Purdy, Adam W. Burnet, J. Stuart Holden, Donald Mackenzie.

In this issue of The Herald we reprint an article on "The Spiritual Eclipse" by Rev. Stanley Carne, pastor of the local Congregational Church which he delivered at the recent Conference and which appears in the October issue of the Record of Christian Work.

Registration Plates

For Auto Soon Ready

From the registry of motor vehicles at Boston it is announced that automobile owners who hold the coveted registration numbers from 1 to 10,000 will receive 1933 registration blanks about October 3. The blanks must be returned during October.

Applications for the numbers from 10,001 to 100,000 will be accepted by mail from October 3 and 31.

No advantage will accrue to those persons who have not already numbers under 100,000 by mailing in their applications earlier than October 24, the date when such applications will be received for assignment. Counter registrations will begin November 14.

Gill

The Gill Parent-Teacher association held its first meeting of the year at the town hall on Thursday evening of last week. Printed programs for the year's meetings were distributed to those present and each family having children in school will be provided with one. Music included a solo by Mrs. G. W. Deming, a solo by Mrs. L. E. Smith accompanied by the violin by Mr. Smith, and a duet by Mrs. Deming and Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Fleckles was at the piano.

The subject of the evening "What makes a successful P. T. A." brought many suggestions that will be put into practice. Supt. L. W. Robbins, who is a member of this association, stressed the need of co-operation of the parents and teachers, and complimented the association on the cooperation of the different sections of the town as represented in its membership. "DOCTOR X"

BOASTS FINE CAST OF DRAMATIC PLAYERS

One of the finest casts of actors assembled in Hollywood this year will be seen in "Doctor X," a First National mystery melodrama, filmed entirely Technicolor. Lee Tracy, Broadway and Hollywood star, heads the roster, which also includes Lionel Atwill, star of "The Silent Witness"; Harry Beresford, creator of "The Old Soak" role; John Wray, star-playwright of "The Nightstick"; Preston Foster, sensational Broadway recruit; Fay Wray, famed beauty and featured actress; and Leila Bennett, noted character comedienne of stage and screen.

The splendid acting and light comedy of Lee Tracy, who again sticks to his long record of reporter roles, help lighten the tense melodrama of the plot. Fay Wray provides the romantic interest opposite Lee Tracy by being cast in the ingenue role as the Doctor's daughter.

The title role of "Doctor X" brings to the screen Lionel Atwill, actor and director of stage plays, whose performance in this picture is reported to be one of the outstanding characterizations of the year.

Besides these principals, the all-star cast of well known names promises a well-acted production. The other doctors in the medical center are played by Preston Foster, John Wray, Arthur Edmund Carewe and Harry Beresford. Other feminine roles are given to Leila Bennett and Mae Busch, while the balance of the cast contains such names as George Rosener, Robert Warwick, Willard Robertson, Thomas Jackson, Harry Holman and Tom Dugan.

Michael Curtiz, who directed the Richard Barthelmess picture, "Alias the Doctor," so realistically, is responsible for much of the fine technique with which "Doctor X" has been filmed in Technicolor.

"PAINTED WOMAN" PROMISES

ROMANTIC SOUTH SEA PORTRAIT

Spencer Tracy and Peggy Shannon Head Strong Cast
That Enacts New Fox Picture;
John Blystone Directed

A South Seas romance that's "different"—the dramatic and vivid tale of two strong men's rivalry for the affections of a girl of the Far East ports—is the colorful theme of "The Painted Woman."

With Spencer Tracy, Peggy Shannon, William (Stage) Boyd and Irving Pichel in the featured roles, the picture is hailed as a welcome novelty among the season's screen offerings.

When Boyd, as a trading-schooner captain, sails from Singapore for Australia, Miss Shannon goes with him to escape the police, and he puts her ashore on an island nearby to await his return. There she meets an adventurous and reckless pearl-fisher in the person of Spencer Tracy, and the two fall in love with Tracy finally proposing marriage.

Fearing Boyd's return she refuses him, but subsequently learns of the captain's supposed death, and changes her mind. Soon after the ceremony she finds the report was false, and that Boyd will arrive in a few days. Terrified, she strives desperately to keep the two men apart and tries to trick Boyd into leaving at once, but her plans are ruined when another island admirer, resentful of her preferring Tracy to him, discloses the truth to Boyd.

The situation results in a highly dramatic climax and one that provides a thoroughly satisfactory ending after many breathless moments.

Miss Shannon, enacting a rough-and-tumble role for the first time in her career, is said to be a sensation, and Tracy's portrayal of the two-fisted but merry soldier-of-fortune is rated the best work he has done to date. Boyd as the hard-boiled captain, Irving Pichel as the scheming lawyer who breaks up Miss Shannon's plans, Raul Roulien, Murray Kinnell and Laska Winter are all said to play their parts notably.

A. C. Kennedy wrote the original story and John G. Blystone directed as his fifty-sixth consecutive picture for Fox.

— COMING SOON —

HAROLD LLOYD in "MOVIE CRAZY"

The recent start of the new George Arliss picture, "A Successful Calamity," now at the Garden Theatre, on the Warner Bros. lot in California, was an aid to the unemployment problem in more ways than one.

Not only were the members of the cast and crew given work for a considerable period, but six men were given work during the length of the production as special policemen, guarding the Arliss sets.

The galleries of local Hollywood dealers and the collection of valuable items owned by W. and J. Sloan and Co. were culled for the pieces which appear in both office and home of Henry Wilton, multi-millionaire hero of "A Successful Calamity."

"Nearly $50,000 worth of furniture and fixtures appear in this picture," according to Whitey Wilson, property custodian for Warner Bros., "much of this loaned and rented to us only because it was to be used in an Arliss production. We couldn't afford to take any chances of loss. We had guards on the sets constantly."

Although a drama, according to conventional standards, was not what Frank Buck set out to film when the Van Beuren-Buck Expedition set out for the Federated Malay States to produce "Bring 'Em Back Alive," which makes its debut at the Garden Theatre beginning Saturday, this picture presents a complete dramatic cast just as though it were a formally constructed production.

The cast of characters of this RKO-Radio picture, directed by Clyde E. Elliott, would look something like this:

Heroine	Honeybear
City Slicker	Python
Gangster	Tiger
Cheee-ild	Baby Elephant
Comedian	Gibbon Ape
Another Gangster	Black Panther
Friend-in-Need	Orang-outang
Policeman	Water Buffalo
A Sailor	Crocodile
Tattooed Lady	Monitor Lizard
The Hero	Frank Buck

The cast also includes a group of assistant heroes, the trusty native boys who aided in capturing the City Slicker, the Gangster and the Tattooed Lady. They also saved the Heroine from the City Slicker and the Cheee-ild from the second Gangster. The guilty were "brought back alive" to justice; that is, modern standards of justice. They were treated with kindness but incarcerated for their crimes. They were not put to death, but they were photographed for the rogue's gallery of the animal kingdom, and sentenced to benevolent life imprisonment in some menagerie or some public park to atone for their offenses against the jungle peace.

Ruth Chatterton's latest starring vehicle, "THE CRASH", comes to the Garden Theatre next Wednesday for a three day run. It is a story which centers about the complications which result from stock market manipulations, and the catastrophe which followed the famed CRASH of October of 1929. Supporting Miss Chatterton are such well known stars as George Brent, Lois Wilson, Hardie Albright Paul Cavanagh, and Richard Tucker.

"THE MILLIONAIRE"

With George Arliss, Mrs. Arliss, Evelyn Knapp
And David Manners, By Popular Request

The outstanding George Arliss again gives the screen an excellent characterization, to say nothing of delightful and clean entertainment, in "The Millionaire." He has accepted an excellent story, has chosen a cast with extreme care, and has put his everything behind the product which bears his name as star. "The Millionaire," of course, is mostly Arliss, and that's what makes it worth while.

Warner Brothers have backed him up with fine recording, good photography and with settings which are in keeping with the historical quality of the product. Booth Tarkington has topped the entertaining story by Earl Derr Biggers with good dialogue.

The thing which stood out most in our mind was the clean-cut story. The story concerns an automobile manufacturer who is forced to retire because of ill health. He goes to California, surrounded by pills, nostrums and people who worry about his health. James Cagney, insurance agent, tells him he ought to get into some activity. He buys a gasoline station under an assumed name. His daughter, capably portrayed by Evelyn Knapp, falls in love with his young partner.

The young partner, David Manners, wins the daughter over the protests of Bramwell Fletcher, wealthy young idler, and Arliss wins back his health. He also defeats his arch rival in the gasoline business, the villainous Noah Berry.

The plot is plausible, well-handled, and well developed. Action is smooth and effortless. The picture should furnish delightful entertainment to the entire family wherever it is shown, because it has all the elements of chance, of failure and success, which one finds in every-day life. The characters all are human and understandable. Mrs. Arliss is a very real wife, naturally.

The Prodigal (after a moment's reflection): The cemetery.

Indignant Wife: Good gracious, The Prodigal (cheerfully): The whole blooming lot of 'em.

The sound of a meek, masculine voice came over the receiver of the doctor's telephone. "Doc, my wife has just gotten a hitch in her jawbone and can't open her mouth. If you're out this way in the next week or so, you might drop in and see if anything can be done for her."

Doctor: You are overworked. You must take more exercise—much more exercise.

Patient: You mean I must work harder?

Doctor: Just the opposite. You must do gymnastics.

Patient: But I am the circus acrobat.

By JUDGE GORDON
I have always associated the Orient with rice. Ever since I was a student in grammar school, I knew that rice was the principal fare of the Chinese, but it was only when I went into the food business that I learned that the United States furnishes the Orient with a great deal of rice. As a matter of fact, 192,000,000 pounds of rice are exported to the Orient yearly, the greatest bulk of which comes from California.

Louisiana has the greatest rice fields in this country, producing

You may, of course, that rice rice is unpainted, its outer coat being rich in minerals and vitamins. However, for most purposes the white is more widely used. Like all cereals, it is a good energy food.

Rice must be cooked just right for best results. I am told that one rule in cooking is to add one cup of rice to ten cups of rapidly boiling water and then add a teaspoonful of salt. Brown rice needs longer cooking than white rice. In either case, as soon as the rice grains are tender when pressed between the thumb and finger, pour the rice into a colander and dash cold water over it. This will keep the grains separate.

There are many excellent dishes possible from rice, with the grain
